Sentry Security Systems Inc. announces Sentry Access Control

Sentry launches access control product line that features advanced and expandable architecture, designed with reliability and ease of installation in mind.

Kingston, ONT — Sentry Security Systems Inc. have partnered with an established yet progressive, North American manufacturer of access control systems and equipment. This partnership allows Sentry to offer a comprehensive range of access control equipment to their dealers, through the Sentry Dealer Program, in addition to their digital video security equipment.

"Our goal is to provide our dealers with the most reliable, easy-to-use, competitively priced, fully supported security solutions" said Mike Demmons, Business Development Manager at Sentry. "After roughly 2 years of product evaluations and talking to Sentry Dealers, we've established an access control offering that meets each objective, and features an advanced and expandable architecture."

Also being introduced by Sentry are a selection of reliable and competitively priced German-made electric door strikes, and a range of accessories including power supplies and cabling.
